

Airport parking for 'carpools'

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

With today's prices, it'd be nice to find a way to save gas.

What better way is there than to "double up" with a friend and share a ride to work along with the cost of gasoline.

Fred Elliott, manager at the Michigan Airport Parking Terminal on Middlebelt Road east of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, is offering all residents just that chance.

Getting on the "transit bandwagon," which is slowly gaining momentum, Elliott has offered to open many of the surplus spaces in his parking lot as a "meeting place" for the money-harried traveler.

"WE'RE JUST a new operation, and naturally have lots of space available,"

'I'd be willing to allow cars to park...while their drivers gather in one car for a trip to work.'

Elliott said. "I'd be willing to allow cars to park in the lot, while their drivers gather in one car for a trip to work."

And with gas at 50-cents a gallon today, four to a car sure makes an attractive money-saving idea.

It would only cost the commuter $15 per month to leave his car in the lot, and will result in a savings in gasoline costs.

"At 50-cents per gallon, with a trip of 20 miles to Detroit and cars getting 10 miles to the gallon, it easily costs each driver $2 a day to make the trip," Elliott said.

"Couple that with parking — sometimes as much as $50 per month in downtown Detroit — and you're realizing a huge savings by teaming up with other drivers," he added.

ELLIOTT SAID he is not offering to set up carpools, but is merely providing the space to leave cars and a central meeting point for commuters.

"Everyone knows another guy who lives fairly near by and works at the same place," Elliott said. "But, if a guy lives in Belleville and another lives in Westland, you won't see either volunteering to go out of his way to pick the other up.

"Our lot is located in a good spot, where everyone can meet, and we have plenty of parking available," he said.

Elliott's lot is suffering from the "first day blues" of parking lots near Metro Airport.

VETERAN TRAVELLERS in their set-ways use the established lots, rather than the newcomers to the parking game.

So, the lot manager estimates he has a surplus of 1,000 parking spaces each day for carpooling use.

"This way, people save on gas and parking in the long run, and I fill my lot," Elliott added.

Besides offering a meeting point for carpoolers, Elliott also is considering establishing a pick-up point for travelers on buses.

"I'VE WORKED out a tentative deal with the DSR, which calls for parking and a bus trip downtown, at a cost of $65 per month," the lot manager said. "With parking downtown, and the price of gas, that's a terrific savings over driving a car to Detroit."

City council spearheads trailer park ordinance

The Romulus City Council, in an effort to upgrade conditions in trailer parks in the city, has received a preliminary draft of proposed ordinance, which would require park owners to meet the needs of their tenants.

"We have more than 600 residents dissatisfied with their lives and being injured, because no one was looking out for them," said Romulus Mayor Pro Tem Beverly McAnally. "I don't want to point my finger at any one lot-owner, but let's say that the managers of the trailer parks in question offer their tenants something less than desirable living conditions."

Mrs. McAnally said a type of "take it or leave it" attitude on the part of some trailer park managers toward tenants forced Councilman James Stewart and herself to take action.

"WE WANT TO SEE what we can do offer services which are practical and feasible to the people and the park-owners," she explained. "We don't want to put anyone out of business, but we also don't want the tenants of the parks taken advantage of."

The council's requested ordinance sets down standards for maintenance of facilities, utility use, fee structures of trailer park ownership and penalties for violation of the measure.

"It specifies that parkowners must maintain their roads," she said. "They also can't force trailer owners to purchase fuel at high prices."

Mrs. McAnally explained that the second measure in the ordinance would prevent lot owners from gouging tenants.

"THERE HAVE been cases, according to testimony from those who live in the prks, that managers force tenants to purchase fuel from a common pool," the mayor pro tem said. "One woman, living in a small trailer, reported a heating oil bill of $30 per month."

"In light of the size of her trailer and the cost of fuel, that price is ridiculous, unless the owner is selling it at more than the actual cost," she added.

"The measure doesn't prevent selling fuel on a bulk basis," Mrs. McAnally said. "But, it does prohibit the parkowner from selling it to his tenants at more than the tenant could purchase it on the open market."

Mrs. McAnally said the ordinance isn't to "squeeze out" trailer park develop-

She's 'mayor' for a week

Bev McAnally runs city hall

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Surely everyone's heard of the "Queen for a Day."

Well, Romulus has its very own "Mayor for a Week" in Mayor Pro Tem Beverly McAnally, who took over the reigns of city government, while Mayor Terry L. Troutt tended to personal business during the week.

Although she is the area's first woman mayor—even though for only a week—Mrs. McAnally, who went from the 14th spot on the council ticket, following the August primary, to take the top spot in November, isn't awed by the honor.

"THE HONOR was being elected in the first place," she said. "It's always an honor when the people put their faith in you to do a good job."

But having a city of 28,000 in her hands has to have a sobering effect.

"I'm not worried," the mayor pro tem said. "I have very competent people to advise me, and truthfully, I don't intend to make any decisions, which will shape the city's course for years to come during the week."

"I'll just try to keep things running smoothly until Terry gets back," she added.

BUT, IN THE meantime, Mrs. McAnally has official duties to perform.

Monday she met with the Romulus School Board. Tuesday she had three appointments in and about city hall. Today, she attended the Michigan Municipal League meeting at the Hilton Inn.

"It's a pretty busy schedule," she said. "But it's the job I accepted."

Mrs. McAnally vetoed the suggestion that she move into the mayor's office from the council office, given to the city's legislative body shortly after Troutt took office.

"IT'D BE a nice idea," she said. "But it wouldn't be worth the trouble for only a few days."

"I'd have to re-arrange the furniture, and by then, he'd be back," she added.

She also laughed at the idea that there would be changes in the city administration.

"I'm probably the only mayor to take office who won't change the administration around," she quipped.

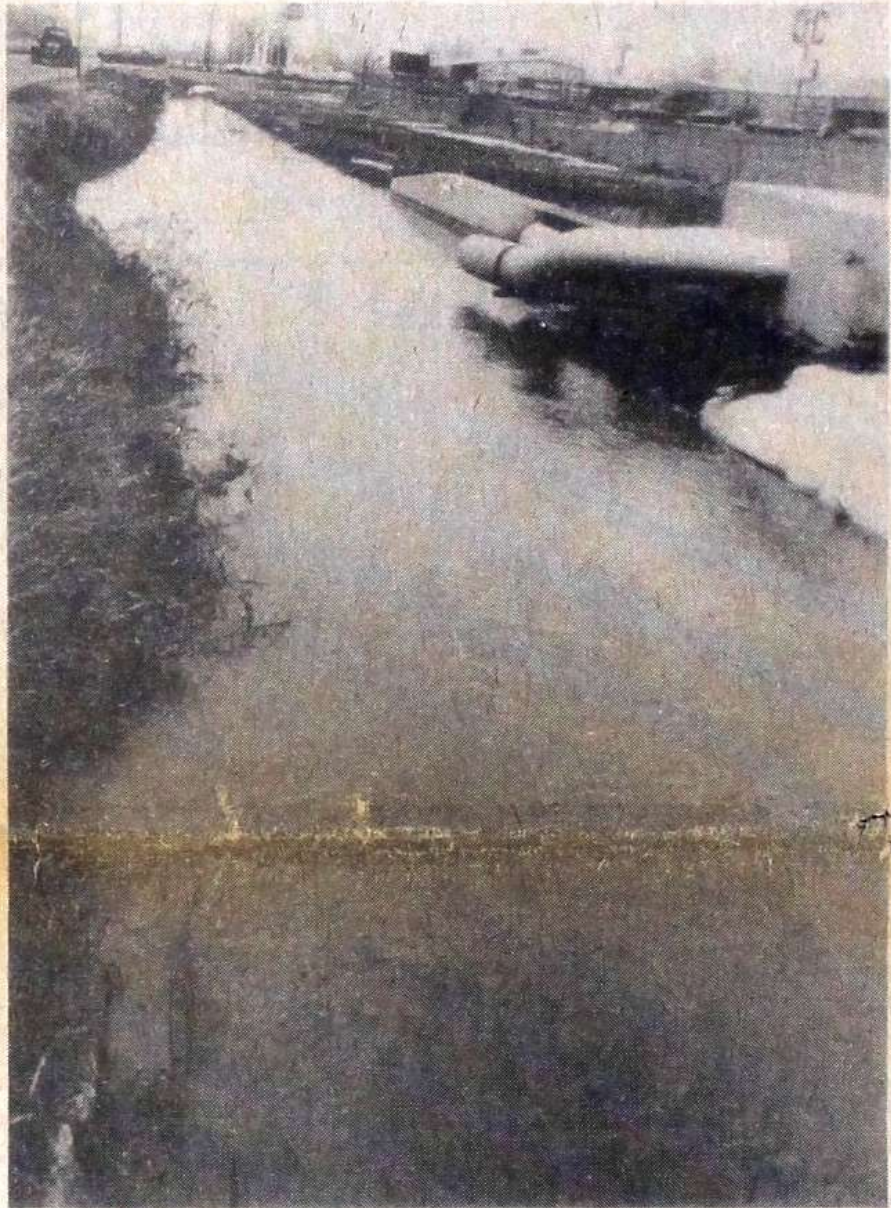

"I can guarantee all those department heads left behind by Terry that they're safe—at least for this week," she laughed.

IF MRS. McANALLY seemed to be taking her new role in stride, it's because she hasn't had time to lose practice in running the city.

"Don't forget, I ran the city for a couple of days shortly after the election, when Terry took a trip," she said. "We planned the whole inauguration ceremony then."

But that was only for a couple of days on a weekend, when things were slow.

Monday Mrs. McAnally began her first work week on the job with regular business hours.

Protesting students are reinstated

High school classes resume

By KAY DE BORD
Of The Roman Staff

Students are back in the classrooms today at Romulus High School and a majority of students have been reinstated after a two-day student walk-out last week which brought about mass suspensions of the student body.

More than 80 percent of the 1,100 students walked out of the school in protest of the board of education's failure to accede to a request by student council representatives for closed door negotiations on 15 proposals presented to the board. The proposals would permit students to take a more active role in decision-making at the high school.

The board discussed the proposals and presented counter-proposals to a student panel meeting in the high school auditorium prior to the student boycott. However, it declined to recognize the students' request to set a date for the negotiating session.

ROMULUS RESIDENTS were presented with the chronology of events leading up to the student walk-out through 7,000 newsletters sent out by the student representatives last Friday.

Teachers at Romulus high school met Jan. 16 and likewise issued a letter to board and administration members, backing the students' action.

Approximately 60 signatures of faculty members appeared on the letter which said, in part that...

"The entire situation was provoked by the unjust and improper board action, concerning hall guards outside the policy making duties of the board..."

BECAUSE LINES of communication were closed by the board, students were given no alternative but to demonstrate..." it continued.

"The entire student body has been orderly and mature during the crisis period..."

demonstrations were completely non-violent..."

The letter also pointed out that "the students, who were demonstrating, did not interfere with the education of students who wished to attend class."

No shortage of food at local supermarkets

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Except for paper goods, the two major area supermarkets expect to have their shelves stocked with goods during the term of the Teamsters Union Strike against five major food distributors.

Managers of Foodville Market in Belleville and Vescios Supermarket at Romulus both said they will have their shelves stocked with enough goods to meet area residents' needs, unless those residents are looking for certain brand names.

Doyle Thompson, manager of Foodville, said that although his market buys 80 per cent of its stock from Allied Supermarkets, one of the five major grocery chains affected by warehousemen and drivers strike, he expects to have food on stock at all times.

'We're definitely going to be open during the strike'

"WE'RE EXPERIENCING some shortages of some brands," Thompson said, "but if you're looking for beans, we'll have beans on the shelves, and if you're looking for meat, we'll have meat in the freezer."

However, Thompson said he couldn't say he couldn't guarantee customers their favorite brand.

"We're running low on some brands, but we're getting some drop shipments from manufacturers and some other shipments from outside drivers," he said. "We're definitely going to be open during the strike."

Jim Chevette, manager of Vescios, agreed with Thompson adding, "we expect to have groceries during the strike, because we're working with a private delivery system for maintaining our supplies."

CHEVETTE SAID he expects no trouble from the Teamsters Union with deliveries.

However, a trailer parked outside an Inkster supermarket burned two days ago.

The blaze was believed to have been started by an arsonist.

Although the store manager claims the trailer was "torched" by the Teamsters, Inkster Police refuse to fix the blame at this time.

Both markets in the area are experiencing a shortage of paper goods, not because of the strike, but because of a nationwide rumor, claiming that paper products would be in short supply due to an alleged wood pulp shortage.

"THE PAPER products are moving the fastest," Thompson said. "But, that's because of the rumor, not because we can't get any."

Chevette said his paper shelves were bare of paper goods yesterday.

Both markets in this area advise shoppers not to panic because of the strike.

At the same time, however, they remind the hard-to-please customer that certain brand names won't be available until the major warehouses are open again.

The Teamsters Union is striking warehouses for Kroger, Chatham, Farmer Jack, Allied and Great Scott supermarkets over differences on the supermarket chains' right to assign drivers to jobs and to change work rules to insure efficiency.

Treasurer hunts for due taxes

Romulus City Treasurer John Lewkowicz is "clamping down" on some delinquent taxpayers.

Lewkowicz is attempting to collect more than $20,000 in delinquent personal property tax payments in an effort to bring the city's books up to date.

He said that some residents are in default for bills dating back to 1971. Five "non-payers" owe the city $2,607.72 or 1971, and another 18

"deadbeats" owe $19,703.23 for 1972.

The taxes had been due since March 1 of both years—the normal time for paying personal property tax.

"It never ceases to amaze me how people can go into default over taxes," Lewkowicz said. "These people willingly accept the city's services during the year, and yet, they're unwilling to pay for them."

AYF conference

Youth unit sets heritage goal

A youth conference, featuring the "revival of the Armenian heritage," will highlight this weekend's activities of the Armenian Youth Federation's 100th midwest session to be held at Romulus' Sheraton Inn.

The federation, organized in 1933, maintains chapters in Armenian-American communities throughout the United States and Canada.

Susan Shoushanian, of Westland, recording secretary of the host metropolitan chapter, said more than 100 delegates from the federation's midwestern chapters will attend the conference.

In addition, the weekend will be highlighted by national championship basketball games, pitting playoff winners from the midwest against teams from the east and middle Atlantic states. The federation opposes Soviet rule over Armenia and campaigns for the restoration of Armenian territories now held by Turkey.

All business sessions and the conference dance will be held at the Sheraton Inn.

Percy Sarkesian, a Ford Motor engineer, will address the Saturday morning business session. Other officers of the metro federation include John Torosian, president; Vartan Arakelian, vice president; Janet Kehetian, corresponding secretary; and Jerry Grejekian, treasurer.

Conduct workshops on municipal service

League delegates convene here

Municipal leaders from throughout southeastern Michigan are learning more about city service at a Michigan Municipal League municipal workshop and regional meeting at the Hilton Inn in Romulus today.

Newly elected officials have been invited to a 2 p.m. discussion on some of the basic laws concerning municipalities, while their "veteran" counterparts are attending meetings of regional concern.

Newly elected officials also are taking part in workshops on the Michigan Home Rule Act, on municipal budgeting and on financing services for municipal government.

WORKSHOPS ON identifying municipal needs and on nursing homes and day care centers also are scheduled for the administrators.

Robert L. Hegel, assistant to the director of the Michigan Municipal League, offered a presentation on "Michigan Home Rule: What your charter can do for your city's effectiveness" for the newly elected officials.

Frederick G. Hornfisher, comptroller for the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, discussed budget controls in a talk, entitled "A Municipal Budgeting Process: Achieving Innovative Community Development," for their more experienced counterparts.

The third concurrent session for newly-elected officials covered stretching a city's tax dollars. John Axe, partner in a municipal bonding consultant firm, discussed "Financing Services by Municipal Governments: Sources of Revenue, Bonding, Statutory Limitations."

FORMER INKSTER City Manager and now Ann Arbor City Manager Sylvester Murray assisted in a presentation on "Identifying Municipal Needs: Obtaining Citizen Input; Setting Municipal Goals and Priorities." He was joined by Gary Webster, assistant city manager for Pontiac.

Westland Mayor Eugene McKinney took part in a discussion on "Nursing Homes and Day Care Centers" along with Joseph Burtell, corporation counsel for Dearborn, and Sol Jacobson, from the University of Michigan Department of Gerontology.

All elected officials also attended two general sessions.

Both sessions were moderated by Beverly McAninch, the mayor of Plymouth.

Mayor Edward McNamara of Livonia with Robert Slone, city manager of Grosse Pointe Park, discussed "Defining the Respective Roles and Responsibilities of Municipal Elected and Administrative Officials" in the first workshop.

DR. GORDON L. THOMAS, professor of communications at Michigan State University spoke on "The Conduct of Council Meetings: General decorum, agendas, parliamentary procedure" at the second session.

At 6:30 p.m., all elected officials will be invited to a dinner session with welcoming remarks by Walter Bezz, president of the Municipal League and mayor of East Detroit.

The regional session was concluded with election of new officers for 1974-75.

Conservation district to hold election

The members of the Wayne County Soil Conservation District will hold their fourth annual meeting Thursday at the 4-H Fairgrounds in Belleville.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature a talk by Robert Smith, legislative counsel for the State Farm Bureau, on possible tax relief for the farmer.

The district also will hold its annual election of officers. The three-year terms of P.R. Biehseimer of Wayne and of David F. Raker of Romulus are up for a vote in the election.

Ruppe wants feds to pay for lost tax lands

By TOM OCHILTREE
Enterprise-Roman Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Rep. Philip E. Ruppe, R-Mich., hopes Congress is ready this year to accept his proposal to compensate counties financially for tax revenues lost through the federal ownership of land within their boundaries.

While his bill on the subject would apply nationwide, it would be of particular benefit to his spread out 11th congressional district where three million acres of land belong to the federal government.

Federal lands pay no local property taxes. Ruppe's measure would provide annual payments to counties in lieu of those lost taxes. Payments would be based on a percentage of the normal tax rate for similar private lands.

ALL FEDERAL OWNERSHIP is not a complete loss to a county. National parks and recreation areas, for example, attract tourists and thereby stimulate the economy of the regions where they are located. Thus, under Ruppe's proposal the federal payments would range from 60 per cent to 90 per cent of the ad valorem tax in each area, depending upon the benefits to the public derived from the federal activities carried out on the land.

Explaining the need for his bill, Ruppe said: "Where there are heavy concentrations of federal land ownership, the burden on the local taxpayer is rapidly becoming unbearable. I strongly feel that the federal government must provide adequate compensation for the loss in local tax revenues when it assumes land ownership.

"A preliminary study of federal land ownership in the 11th congressional district of Michigan indicates that local governments would receive approximately $6 million dollars in federal tax payments annually.

"WE CAN NO LONGER IGNORE the effects of federal land ownership on the local tax structures. As long as we are going to have a property tax system, the federal government is going to have to live up to its responsibilities as a local landowner."

Ruppe's bill is pending before the House Interior Committee of which he is a member. He has been working for the concept since 1970, the year the public land law review commission submitted its lengthy report to President Nixon.

That report pointed out the advantages which would result if all public land laws were updated and if various overlapping provisions were weeded out. It also recommended federal compensation to counties and other local government units for federally owned lands removed from the property tax roll.

The administration's present attitude toward the proposal could be an important factor in whether Ruppe's bill achieves congressional enactment in this session. He has received letters of support, not only from people in the Upper Peninsula and elsewhere in his district, but from many areas around the country where federal land holdings are large.

THE ONLY FEDERAL funds the counties get now from federal land comes from a share of the revenue received from cuttings in national forests. This is not a dependable source of revenue for local officials, however, since the cuttings vary widely from year to year.

Michigan has recognized the problem so far as state-owned lands are concerned. Changes in the so-called "swamp tax" enacted by the Legislature last November increased the fee the state pays to localities from 20 cents to 50 cents per acre.

Originally these fees were paid only to school districts and townships. Now counties which contain state-owned lands will get some of this money as well.

'The federal government is going to have to live up to its responsibilities as a local landowner.'

As we see it

Romulus school board serves the 'public'

More than often this newspaper has championed for the rights of young people, students in particular.

But the recent student protest of decisions reached by the Romulus Board of Education did little to enhance the image of the total student community at Romulus High School.

By staying away from classes, and taking to the picketing route, some adults are defining the protest as an expression of democratic action.

When teenage school students attempt to toy with the decision-making of a tax supported system, they should heed a basic classroom warning: "Do your homework first..."

According to available sources, students are protesting the fact that the board declined to "negotiate" the student proposals and board counter-proposals at the last board meeting.

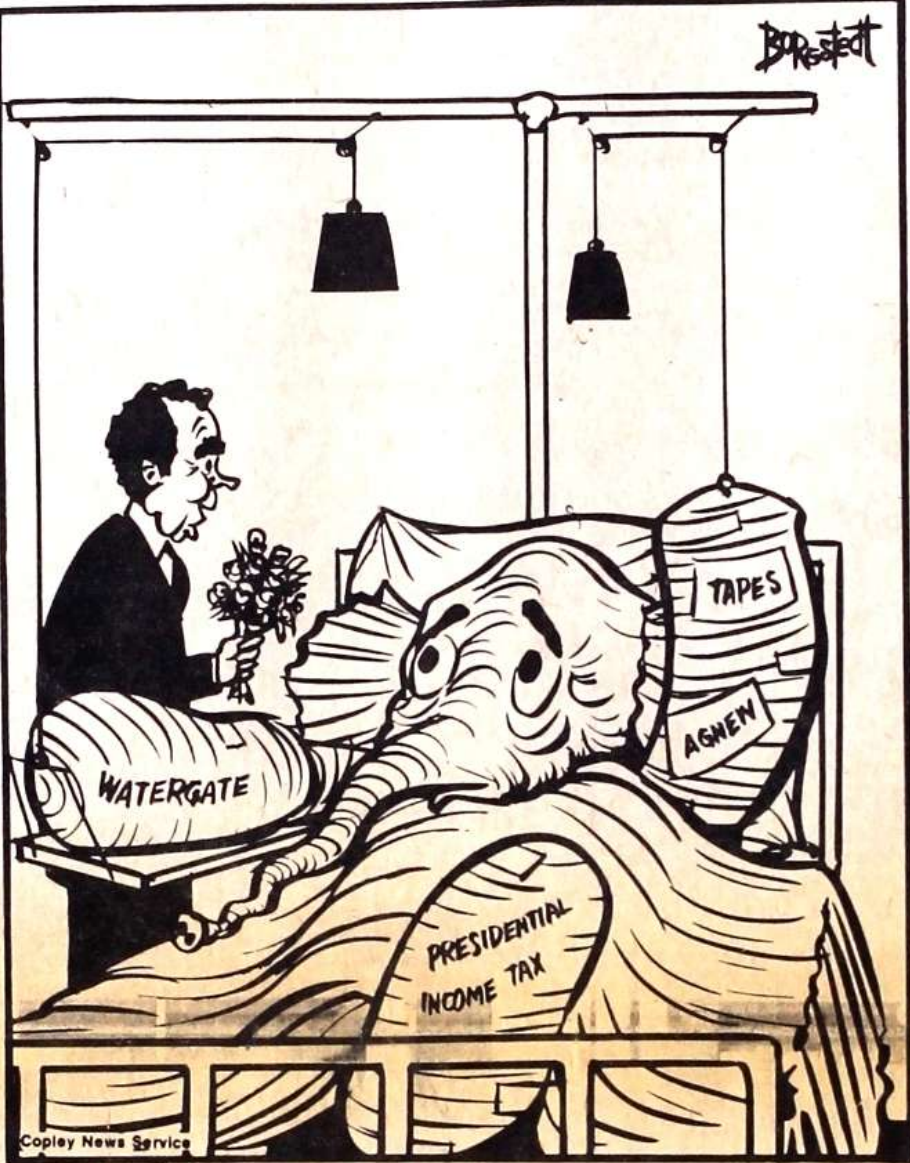

Part of the problem could be that they see some of their peers enjoy smoking areas, and at times, have witnessed picketing teachers. But all demonstrative parties tend to forget that the men and women who serve on the school board were elected by the people to serve as "keepers of the system," and at this stage we feel the board is meeting the task...and wishes to taxpaying parents.

The students, according to a signed statement by several high school teachers, carried out their action in a democratic manner.

The teachers also allege that the school year at the high school was running smoothly until the "board interfered with the educational process at the senior high school."

Since when was it ruled that the elected board of education has no right to "get involved." They were elected by the voting community to serve as guardians of the system, and in this era of public school financing—it's a difficult task.

Spending drop means less taxation

Milliken proposes hold-the-line state budget

By BOB BERG
Lansing Bureau Chief

LANSING — State government has reached a fiscal plateau signalling an end to the dizzying rise in spending which marked the 1960's and early 1970's.

That is the central message in the budget proposed by Gov. William G. Milliken to the Legislature for the 1974-75 fiscal year. The budget foresees a levelling off of welfare spending and an actual drop in such expensive categories as public school enrollments and patients in state mental institutions.

It is this levelling off which allows him to project no tax increases for the next five years, even though he projects only a $17 million surplus at the end of fiscal 1975 and spending $100 million more than is brought in that year.

THE ECONOMIC PROJECTIONS say state income will rise sufficiently to cover another modest increase in spending in fiscal 1976 and forestall any tax increases.

Milliken is proposing an increase in the general fund of just over $100 million for fiscal 1975. The welfare budget alone has been rising more than that in recent years and it receives the lion's share of the increase again — roughly $75 million.

The sharply reduced increase is due mainly to an expected levelling off of the highly controversial aid to dependent children (ADC) caseload. From July 1, 1969 to June 30, 1973, the caseload skyrocketed from 64,623 to 169,356, an average of more than 25,000 additional per year.

IT IS EXPECTED TO GROW only an additional 9,000 by next June 30 and then only patient load is expected to be at 12,764 and for the first time the Department of Mental Health will have achieved its goal of having one staff person for each patient. At the same time it is achieving the desired one to one ratio and providing pay increases awarded by the Civil Service Commission, the Mental Health Department would still cut its spending by $15 million, down to $238 million.

guaranteed $975 per pupil, with the state providing whatever is needed above the local millage yield to reach that figure.

The slowing economy, braked partially by the energy crisis, is expected to yield little more in revenue for the state next year than this year — an increase of $15 million to $2.7 billion. The budget experts say the energy crisis will cost roughly $50 million in revenues.

But the experts in the governor's office say things will pick up again by fiscal 1976.

'As we learn to live with the situation, the economy will keep moving.'

6,000 more in fiscal 1975. Milliken's budget experts say the welfare load has evened out on both the east and west coasts and will do the same in Michigan soon.

The most striking reduction in caseloads has come in the field of mental health. The population of mentally ill and mentally retarded persons in state institutions has been almost halved since June 1970.

At that time there were 22,988 institutionalized persons. By this June the

A DROP IN ENROLLMENT in Michigan public schools has helped put a lid on the traditional largest chunk of the budget — state aid to schools. Enrollment has dropped each of the last three years and is expected to again next year.

This means a much smaller increase in school aid when combined with the fact the major increase required by revising the school aid formula took place last year. Yet schools levying 25 or more mills will be

The proposed budget for fiscal 1975 is a pretty tame document to anyone used to documenting the quantum leaps in spending which occurred in recent years. A four per cent rise in spending is downright anemic.

But a levelling off in spending should be one of the easiest things to swallow for taxpayers used to being hit from one side after another.

Dems could 'pick-up' 40 GOP seats

Nixon's woes a threat to concerned Republicans

WASHINGTON—Some of the most politically sophisticated Republicans in Washington believe a simple matter of timing could determine whether impeachment proceedings are undertaken against President Nixon.

If this analysis is correct, Nixon would derive great advantage if the new Congress decides the impeachment issue early in the session. The President would probably find himself cleared then.

It is doubtful whether the White House recognizes this, however. People who should know insist the President once again largely is out of touch with the mainstream of thought in his own Republican Party.

The White House oval office is just as isolated now as it was in Nixon's first term when H.R. (Bob) Haldeman and John Ehrlichman guarded the door.

Now the task of shielding the President from too many discouraging words has been undertaken by Ronald L. Ziegler, whose duties as press secretary have been considerably expanded, and White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig, Jr., a retired Army General.

The president's chief lobbyist in the House, Max L. Friedersdorf, fills the ticklish job of getting the President's side of the story to congressmen.

Friedersdorf, a good natured Hoosier, has developed into a strong ally of the President. Even so, the impeachment issue is so unique, so filled with emotion, that none of the people surrounding the President can be exactly sure of how to play it.

Republican congressmen returning from their Christmas time recess clearly have been shaken by what their constituents told them while they were home.

Many found their districts still dominated by hard core Republicans who visualized the criticism heaped on the President and the whole sad Watergate story as a plot largely kept boiling by the "Liberal eastern establishment media." Yet these same districts contained a considerable number of Republican voters who insisted the GOP must disavow Nixon or spend the next 10 or 15 years in the political wilderness.

The average Republican congressman could hardly be faced with a more confusing problem. All elected political figures of both parties operate on one basic rule: The first task of politics is to get elected or re-elected.

In that context how, they ask themselves, should they react to "The Nixon Problem." That is where the issue of timing comes into the picture, the sources explained.

The House Judiciary Committee now is investigating the impeachment question. There are some traditionally oriented Republicans on that panel, but the White House regards the committee generally as a hot bed of extreme liberals.

That is the same committee which came pretty close to badgering Michigan's Gerald R. Ford, largely on ideological grounds, while considering Ford's confirmation as vice president during December. The committee chairman, Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., was one of the few House members who voted against Ford's confirmation.

In the light of the committee's known reputation, the panel seems likely to recommend impeachment when it makes its report to the full House.

For the sake of prudence if nothing else, that has to be the assumption on which Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., is basing his plans. Rhodes, 57, succeeded Ford as House Minority Leader. The two men are remarkably alike in political philosophy.

Rhodes hopes Rodino will bring the Judiciary Committee's impeachment report to the floor by April for a prompt vote by the full House.

They serve mankind

We salute the Jaycees and Kiwanis

By Mitch Kehetian,
Enterprise-Roman Editor

This is a special week for the Michigan Jaycees and Kiwanis International - two outstanding community service organizations observing their founding anniversaries.

And here in Western Wayne County, the Jaycees and Kiwanis serve in Belleville, Romulus, New Boston and Van Buren, Huron and Sumpter townships.

For the Jaycees this is golden anniversary year, and for the Kiwanis - their 59th year of youth service.

A Jaycee is a young man between the ages of 18 and 35; while the Kiwanian ranges in age up to 80 plus years - and the beauty of their respective creeds is that each organization serves the community on a voluntary basis.

While we applaud the Jaycees and Kiwanis, we are cognizant that many other outstanding service organizations perform equal services to make this a better world to live.

Jaycees, because of their membership-age limitation, call themselves "young men of action," -- and rightfully so.

These are young men who get involved in their communities during the early years of family-raising, and they get involved because they adhere to a credo that stresses: "Service to humanity is the best work of life."

The Kiwanian traces the birth of his service organization to 59 years ago this month when a group of Detroit businessmen formed the first Kiwanis Club in America.

Then, as now, the primary aim of Kiwanis is to serve the youth of America.

And today you will find Kiwanis units in 40 countries, with a total membership of more than 300,000 community minded men of all ages.

Some men find satisfaction in life by serving the church of their religious faith, some serve the ranks of Scouting, and others serve their fellow man through the Rotary, Lions, Civitan, Exchange and a host of other worthy and meaningful civic organizations.

But service to help better our communities is not limited to the men of Western Wayne County - a glance at the weekly reporting of women's activities in The Enterprise-Roman quickly reminds that voluntary community service work is a challenge to all citizens.

And we repeat our pledge as your community newspaper to report the constructive efforts of each and every organization.

We can if you'll let us know what you are doing to make Western Wayne County a better place in which to live and work.

Raps appointments

To the Editor: Several weeks ago your newspaper praised the efforts of Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt for keeping a campaign pledge to get some of our lost land taxing revenues back from the county. These monies, as you pointed out, would recover lost taxing property now part of that block-busting Metropolitan Airport.

I hope he has success, but I wish he'd wait until the money gets in the city's treasury before appointing anymore of his "oldtime buddies" to municipal jobs.

During our esteemed mayor's campaign he talked about Romulus' Rebirth. If our "rebirth" depends on some of his buddies, then all is lost.

While I'm letting loose with the steam, I have another suggestion for the mayor and the city council. If the airport is owned by the county and we do not get one penny in taxes, then I think the citizens of Romulus deserve the courtesy of having the "Welcome to Detroit" signs removed from the airport. I also feel the airlines should stop promoting "We are now landing at Detroit Metropolitan Airport." Hell, the airport is in Romulus. I know, the planes remind me every hour of the day as they zoom over my apartment.

State okays used bus funds

The Michigan State Highway Commission has approved the reallocation of $1.89 million, including almost $100,000 for the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), from the state's general transportation fund for the purchase and rehabilitation of used buses.

The money will be distributed among 10 local and regional transportation agencies under provisions of recently passed legislation.

designed to deal with the energy crisis.

"EXISTING FUEL shortages and fuel rationing, if it is imposed, will create a heavy demand for public transportation services," said the commission chairman, E.V. Erickson.

Another phase of the energy emergency program will enable transportation agencies to lease parking areas for "park-and-ride" facilities.

Edgemont PTO conducts variety of school functions

The Edgemont Elementary School in Belleville has been the center of several Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) functions lately.

The PTO voted to donate half of the proceeds from its recent sweatshirt sale to "The Number," the community's crisis-counseling center.

The book fair held in November offered a selection of more than 300 book titles. More than $1,000 in sales netted a profit of $240. The money will be used for the purchase of new books for the school library.

A teacher-sponsored Math and Science Night was held at the school last week. Several displays of commercial games, student and teacher games, experiments, model makings, communication skills and movies on the metric system were on display during the show.

Parents also were invited to take part in these math and science activities, which their children participated in during school hours.

Preparations are being made for the Annual Pancake

Supper to be held at the school from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 28. Tickets cost $1.50 for adults, $1 for children under 13 years of age and senior citizens, and pre-schoolers, 75 cents.

Churches conduct combined service

"The Great Parade" will be the title for the worship service of Christian Unity in Taylor this year.

Participating in this year's program are: St. Constance Roman Catholic Parish, Christ the King Episcopal, St. John Lutheran Parish, Southminister Presbyterian and West Mound United Methodist Church.

The service will take place at 3 p.m. this Sunday afternoon at the West Mound Church, located at 22395

Eureka Rd. across from the Hudson's Southland Center.

The service will feature the combined church choirs, singing contemporary as well as traditional church music such as "We Are The Church," "If There Is A Holy Spirit" and "For All The Saints."

The message of the day will consist of the involvement of some 30 persons in "The Great Parade," Pastor Rev. Robert Dobson said.

Township warden to issue tickets to unlicensed dogs

Dog owners in Van Buren Township were issued a warning this week to procure a license for their pets or face getting a dog ordinance violation ticket.

The warning was issued by Van Buren Township Ordinance Officer Gene Bracken who said a large number of dogs have been apprehended by the dog warden for running through the township.

A license on the dog will aid the warden to identify the dog's owner. Otherwise the dog usually is disposed of, Bracken said.

The township's dog pound receives calls at least seven times weekly from dog owners seeking lost pets.

Bracken suggests dog owners record the license number of their pets to aid the dog pound and police to return the pet.

In cases of dog bites, the license can be a tremendous help in determining if the dog had his shots to prevent rabies, he added.

"Buying a dog license for $3 ($10 after deadline) is like buying insurance," Bracken said.

Violation of the provisions of the township's dog ordinance carries penalties of a fine up to $90 or a jail sentence up to 90 days or both.

The greatest recorded fall by a cat was 120 feet in London in 1965.

MacMillan-Wallace wed

Ski lodge selected for honeymoon site

The holiday season was chosen by Kaye Lynn Wallace and Michael MacMillan for their double ring wedding ceremony. Reserving the First United Methodist Church of Belleville for the seven thirty nuptials, they repeated their vows before the Rev. Allen Rice and some 100 assembled relatives and friends.

Christmas greenery and two white poinsettia plants formed the background for the December 28 rite which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving G. Wallace of 14225 Elwell Road, Belleville, and the son of Thomas MacMillan of Dunedin, Florida and Mrs. Margaret MacMillan of Flushing.

MR. and MRS. MICHAEL MACMILLAN

Soloist for the occasion was Mrs. Jack Burgett who sang 'We've Only Just Begun', 'The Lord's Prayer' and 'For All We Know' accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Frank Ashe.

ESCORTED TO the altar by her father, Kaye was gownned in a white velvet creation patterned along princess lines with long fitted sleeves, a stand-up collar, and detachable train all accented with Alencon lace. The dress was made by the bride's sister, Mrs. Linda Ritzheim.

Her silk illusion veil drifted to mid-back length from a floral headpiece and a cascade bouquet of white tea roses, carnations, miniature blue flowers and ivy completed her bridal finery.

Valerie Gondek of Belleville served as honor attendant for her close friend with Patricia Gildersleeve of Lincoln Park as the only bridesmaid. Dressed alike, the pair donned royal blue velvet frocks designed in the empire mode with stand-away collars and long sleeves banded with white lace. Flat blue velvet bows secured their short veils and blue carnations comprised their rosette bouquets.

The bridegroom asked David Ostrander of Flint to serve as best man. Others on the equire side were Pat MacMillan, a brother from Flint; Don Ritzheim, the bride's brother-in-law from Inkster; and Dennis Swain of Lansing.

Men's Club again 'hosts with the most'

BILLED AS its 'Holiday Dance', the 1974 entry into the social world of St. Anthony's Men's Club received an undisputed A-plus from its patrons Saturday night. Dancing away the hours until two in the morning, the group of 200 gathered at eight for cocktails and a buffet dinner in the parish's Father Folta Building which had been converted into a pseudo-nightclub for the occasion.

Colorful draperies covered block walls and twinkling trees and hurricane candles provided the dim glow that's so perfect for dancing. Music was by the George Teller quartet and there was everything from yesterday's fox trot (which is making a big come-back) to today's rock pieces, Latin numbers, Polish polkas, and even a few 'mixers' where you changed partners every few steps.

It was a time for renewing old acquaintances and an opportunity to finally meet those 'new people' you've been seeing in church the past few months. Then, too, there were the dozens of guests who'd been invited to share in the festivities and groups from neighboring parishes like St. Ursula's in Ypsi who came to check out Don Meyer's claim that 'it's the best party you've ever been to.' They found he hadn't exaggerated one bit.

Father Skoney was on hand to table hop and introduce his two assistants, Father Borowski and Father Mike, to the sell-out crowd. There were so many familiar faces and so many names we'd like to mention but it just wouldn't be fair to single out any particular group since everyone seemed involved in the proceedings. The 'Holiday Dance' brought back that special feeling of camaraderie and warmth and in mid-January, can you think of a better way to lift one's spirits?

Yes, there'll be another party next year!

Special birthday gets special treatment

THE FACT that the Second Saturday Card Club met on the 12th is not really earth shattering, as member Sue Tibbs stated. But the fact that the group surprised one-of-its-own with a big party IS. When the Romulus group found out that Sandy Williams was going to mark a 'special' birthday (about which he'd kept particularly mum) on the very night of 'club,' they put their heads together and came up with all kinds of surprises for the birthday-boy.

Asked to bring along gag gifts, the group of 12 found all kinds of goodies to warm a young man's heart—a cane, bifocals, Geritol, a hairpiece, and several unmentionables. The gifts followed the usual pinocle session which had John Mc Cann and Sue Tibbs as top scorers and Dutch Tibbs and Lynn Mzykowski taking home consolation awards.

The Tibbs, who hosted the party, served a spaghetti supper prior to cards and later, along with the gift presentation, had cake and ice cream in honor of the occasion.

Behind-the-scenes crew kept busy

MONDAYS AND Thursdays for the next few weeks are busy evenings for the Belleville Community Players who are hard at rehearsal for their February production, 'Wait Until Dark.' Director Jean Daniels is working on entrances and exits, movements and gestures, voice inflections and breathing, and a myriad of other details that come with the head-honcho's job.

Producer Mona Salisbury, in the meantime, is consulting with committees on scenery, lighting, curtains, sound effects, and properties. And not the least of the group is the prop man and his committee which, in this case, is being carried out by the distaff side, Michele Rinka, chairman, and Sharon Matthews. Sharon is already a veteran of several productions but Michele is just beginning to get the feel of the greasepaint group. A teacher at Edgemont School, she has never acted but decided she liked the idea of being involved with her community theater.

And, she's really taken on a load for her first assignment since her list of props includes some 150 items and such gems as fuse boxes, gasoline cans, brass knuckles, and a safe. Then, too, she's hunting a rug—the size being geared for the rolling-up of a human body, and an old-fashioned 'knob-top' refrigerator, venetian blinds, and just about every kind of photographic equipment.

Yep, there's much more to the stage than just acting and those behind the scenes play a mighty important role of their own. At the moment the group is trying to find someone versed in stage lighting—any interested party being invited to call Mona Salisbury at 697-8908 or to drop by the auditorium any Monday or Thursday evening between 8 and 10 p.m. In fact, ANYone who'd like to be included in the Players is extended the same invitation.

'Wait Until Dark'—that mystery drama so many of us have enjoyed and shuddered through on the screen—is scheduled for February 22 and 23 in the Belleville High School Auditorium. Cast members include Charlene Lobo, Jim Lightfoot, Bill Loyd, Jim Fitch, Sue Ewald and Tom Branscomb—the two policemen still to be cast.

Schroeder son continues tradition

WORD HAS COME from Cupertino, California telling of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Schroeder. Receiving the call were Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Schroeder of Savage Road, paternal grandparents of the couple's second son who arrived January 12 at El Camino Hospital in Mountain View, California.

The seven pound newcomer is the little brother of John Charles, who'll be three in March. The Schroeders named their new addition Christopher Charles—continuing a tradition of 'Charles' in the family since Tom, his two brothers and their dad all bear the middle name 'Charles'; the name coming from the senior Schroeder's father who was titled Charles.

The new heir's dad was graduated from Belleville High School, served for six years with the U.S. Navy and attended Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo and the University of San Jose in California. Christopher is Walter and Dorothy's fifth grandchild.

Mrs. Gras entertains Garden Club

The meeting of the Huron Valley Garden Club was held January 7 in the home of Mrs. John Gras on E. Huron River Drive. A full house received the business of the club, given by Mrs. W. Harold Roberts, vice-president, in the absence of the president.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Thomas Books reported on her family's two year residency in London, England. Mr. Books is with the Ford Motor Company and was assigned to the London area for the two year period.

The Bookses had the pleasure of a home with a large back yard which had over 200 rose varieties...all of which were cared for by a gardener! Shirley told of her many household and shopping experiences as an American in London. The three Books children had their share of experiences in the English schools and towns. In all, it sounded like a lively two years and an experience which the whole family will remember.

Huron Countryside Co-op Nursery is pre-schoolers' delight

FIRST LESSON — The Huron Countryside Co-op Nursery opened for classes Monday, January 14, with the children divided into two sessions - morning and afternoon. Mrs. Doris Dougherty, a graduate of Wayne State University, who has been involved with the co-op plan (having been a consultant for 18 years, a co-op parent and former nursery teacher) was chosen to teach the three to four year olds twice weekly. The nursery is located in the Huron Elementary School and meets Mondays and Fridays.

HOLD ON, MATEY! — What better way to get acquainted than in a cozy two-man wooden boat on rockers. Four-year old Albert Novak and his 'ship mate' Angie Mangiapane, also four, delighted in their first attempt at the novel 'rocker.'

They were among the youngsters attending the opening session of the Huron Countryside Co-op Nursery on Monday, January 14.

OH GOSH, IT'S SLIPPERY! — Joey Wells wasn't quite prepared for the 'zip' which took him speeding down the slide Monday, January 14, at his new school. Three year old Joey is one of the many area children who've been enrolled in the brand new co-op nursery located at Merriman and Huron River Drive in Huron Township.

FOLLOW THE BOUNCING BALL — Cute little Krista Falkey doesn't have to tell a soul she's having fun; you can read it in her expression as she masters the technique of the big bouncing ball. Four-year old Krista was at Huron Countryside Co-op Nursery for its afternoon class January 14 when our photographer dropped in to catch a little of the action.

Lessons, fun, games at bi-weekly sessions

The official opening of the Huron Countryside Co-op Nursery took place Monday, January 14, with two groups meetings - one from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and the other from 12:30 to 2:45 p.m. Youngsters have been evenly divided into their age groups. The Monday and Friday sessions are being taught by Mrs. Doris Dougherty with assistance from two mothers each day.

Mrs. Dougherty was graduated from Wayne State University and is a former co-op parent and nursery teacher. She also worked as a co-op consultant for 18 years so is well qualified for her work with the three-four year old group.

At a preliminary meeting January 3, parents were invited to meet each other, the Nursery officers and Mrs. Dougherty. President Lois Crawford was on hand to give a brief resume of what the co-op is all about and also had her fellow officers tell what their work involved. A visit to the classroom, a question and answer period and a coffee break concluded the evening.

On January 7 interviews with the children and parents were conducted by Mrs. 6 to Mr. and Mrs. James M. Dougherty and on the 14th the doors were open for the first classes of a new school and a new year.

Anyone interested in enrolling their pre-schooler may contact Yvonne Campeau, 753-9289, or Lois Crawford, 782-3998, since there are still a few openings.

Bassinet bulletins

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jorden of 24351 Karr Road, Belleville, have a new son born January 3 at Beyer Hospital. He weighed in at 8 lbs.-11 oz.

The baby boy born January 6 to Mr. and Mrs. Szymanski of 49080 Denton Road, Belleville, weighed 8 lbs.-1 oz. He arrived at Beyer Hospital.

It was a boy, too, for Mr. and Mrs. William J. Riggs of 46570 Willis Road, Belleville, on January 7 at Beyer Hospital, his weight was recorded at 7 lbs.-2 oz.

Home Arts Club has gymnastics program

The first meeting of the year for the Home Arts Club was held at North Junior High School January 14. One new member, Marge Hosman, was welcomed into the group.

Mrs. Mary Baribeau, physical education instructor at North, presented her gymnastics teams in a program which included tumbling, acrobatics and prowess on the parallel bars and beams. About 15 girls were involved in the demonstration and later invited to join club members for hot cider and donuts in the home economics room.

President Elaine Gutierrez conducted a brief business meeting at which the group decided to make its February meeting 'guest night' with each member asked to bring a friend for the evening. An interesting program 'Pine Originals' will be on the calendar with Marge La Blond explaining and demonstrating the procedure.

Avis White, Joy Hill and Bev Sparrow were hostesses for the evening.

Sorority holds meet in Wayne

The January meeting of Alpha Delta Kappa was held at the home of Mrs. John Duck, 4950 Fletcher in Wayne. Her co-hostess was Mrs. Forrest Shirley of Belleville.

At the beginning of the meeting a candlelight memorial service was held for Helen Nass, former assistant principal of South Junior High School, who passed away in December.

Each member contributed educational toys, games, books, etc., to be sent to a needy school in Houghton County. They will be used by Mrs. Penny of Heikkinen School in Stanton Township who teaches kindergarten through third grades.

Cleanliness is a must!

The Huron Valley Garden Club calls attention to a demonstration of how the thesis that cleanliness attracts cleanliness actually works.

Ten chronically-littered commercial areas of a large city were selected for an experiment. Property owners were persuaded to sweep their sidewalks more regularly and to pick up the sweepings instead of pushing them into the streets.

The result was a 62 per cent reduction in littering by shoppers and other pedestrians.

There is an obvious moral. Better sweeping reduces the need for sweeping!

Beefed-up standard

How a family eats can be a good indication of its 'standard of living.' Though precise measurement of a living standard is not possible, good eating—particularly meat consumption—is probably a better gauge of the ultimate in human welfare than counting cars, TV sets and telephones. For example, consumer prosperity has been reflected in per capita beef consumption which climbed from 88.8 pounds in 1962 to 116 pounds in 1972. And in 1932, during the depth of the great depression, average consumption was just 46.4 pounds per person.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

The Bolshevik revolution in 1917 fathered the birth of Communism. In the years since, Communist regimes have always managed to muster crowds on anniversaries to celebrate the birth of the most terroristic monster in the history of man. In sheer numbers, the manipulated, mob-minded, emotion-led converts to Communism have outstripped... but have not out-classed democratic society.

The dignity of a democratic, Christian inspired society has not only survived, it has grown. Church affiliation has increased steadily through the years. But not nearly enough. Church attendance has had its ups and downs. Larger attendance is seen in worrisome times, less attendance in better times. Complacency seems to be a fault of Christian people. It seems sensible to ask what would happen if complacency was conquered...

Think about it this way... If each of the 12 disciples had won ONLY ONE convert a year, and if each convert in turn had converted just ONE more person, and if this mathematical doubling increase had continued thru these 1900 plus years, EVERYBODY on earth would have long ago been Christians!

Van Buren district joins drug abuse program

Various schools in Wayne County and in cities throughout Michigan are setting up classes in yoga and meditation. Teachers are signing up for empathy training, and students are being called into planning sessions to share in decision making on a near equal basis with administrators. Changes are taking place across the country and also are happening in the Van Buren Public School District. One of the catalysts for such a change is a recently formed 16-member team from area schools and the community, which attended Drug Abuse Reduction Through Education (DARTE) workshops in December. DARTE is a two-member professional staff, which sets up drug education training sessions for Wayne County teachers, administrators and students. "It's a process, not a package, and the key to the process is to get groups from local districts to take a fresh look at their own unique problems, then develop programs tailored to individual needs," one DARTE director said. Under the process, the Van Buren Public School System, working with a DARTE consultant, selects a team of students, teachers, counselors and administrators who attended a training session conducted by the DARTE staff and outside consultants. The Van Buren School clarification information and lectures on drug pharmacology and law and public policy on drug abuse. They also participated in yoga, meditation and role-playing games.

District's team included James Coplas, Belleville High School administrator; Robert Harkai, students service center director; Judy Stuart, South Junior High School counselor; Ellen Jackson and Nancy Krupp, Belleville High School teachers; Cynthia Coleman, South Junior High School teacher; Paul Druker, North Junior High School teacher; Mrs. Sue Chen, a parent and Wayne Frazier, West Willow Elementary School teacher.

A crucial part of the sessions involved team action planning, in which each team had to come up with a plan for changing their home district to a place unlikely to incubate teenage drug abuse.

THE VAN BUREN TEAM programs ranged from setting up a district-wide student volunteer program to establishing over-dose aid and drug workshops to restructuring the curriculum through an "alternative education" program.

But the real proof of DARTE effectiveness will come with the team's presentation to the Van Buren Board of Education.

The DARTE team efforts will help the Van Buren School District to take a new look at what students and adults can do together to make schools better and combat drug abuse.

Movie project has case of the blahs

More children are needed to attend the weekly "Movies for Kids" at the Romulus High School to make them a success.

According to Gary Johnson, project coordinator for the Romulus Jaycees, some 100 children are needed to make the project a break-even proposition.

Co-sponsored by the Romulus Jaycees, the Romulus Area PTA Council and the Romulus Recreation Department, the weekly "Movies for Kids" regularly draws more than 200 spectators.

THE FIRST three-week average attendance for children was 236, coupled with the weekly average attendance of 96 adults.

"Since we designed the program to be a strictly non-profit project," we reduced the ticket price to the bare minimum based on attendance," Johnson said.

"At three tickets for a dollar, we need about 100 more children than we now have. However, out of 1,200 children signed up, 100 more per show is hardly a problem," he added.

The committee hopes that families from the Gordonier, Harrison, Merriman and Beverly Elementary Schools' areas take part in the program.

THOSE FOUR schools have shown the lowest attendance during the first three weeks of the movies.

Tickets for the weekly movies, running 150 minutes each week, can be obtained at all area grade schools, including the St. Aloysius Elementary School.

Residents are asked to contact their PTA representative for the movie project through the schools.

Children can purchase tickets at 35-cents apiece or 3 for $1, providing they have a parent's signed permission slip to attend the movie each week.

ALL CHILDREN attending the movies must be accompanied by an adult.

The organizers suggest that parents band together in a type of "pool" in which a different parent can watch the neighborhood children each week.

Trustees request utilities ordinance

Scout leaders formulate plans for year's membership drive

The Huron District of the Boy Scouts of America will hold its annual sustaining membership campaign in March this year.

Area scout leaders met last week at the Romulus branch of the Manufacturers National Bank, 36450 Goddard Rd., Romulus to discuss and formulate campaign plans for the 30-day program. Leo Kalota, vice president and manager of the Romulus bank branch, is chairman of the membership drive. He said that the district's goal is for more than $2,000 in the present campaign.

Other scout leaders attending the Romulus session were R.J. O'Neil, Huron District chairman; Neil Reid, vice chairman; and Joseph Kerridge, district executive. Kalota issued an appeal to parents and others, residing in the Huron District, interested in the scout movement to become sustaining members.

Contributions are tax deductible. The Huron District embraces the communities of Belleville, New Boston, Romulus, Van Buren and Sumpter Townships. Kalota and O'Neil were presented with scout pins for services rendered

Explaining bills

Ford sends crisis report to homes in 15th District

A special report on the energy crisis has been mailed by Congressman William D. Ford to residents in Michigan's 15th Congressional District.

Written after Congress adjourned on Dec. 22, the report explains that the House refused to pass an energy bill after deletion of a "windfall profits" section because of pressure from the White House and the large oil corporations.

Ford said the energy legislation will be taken up again, when Congress reconvenes on Jan. 21, adding that he would insist on the inclusion of some type of excess profits tax.

"I ALSO WAS opposed to a section giving President Nixon blanket authority to order gasoline rationing without retaining Congressional veto power," he said. "I will insist that Congress keep its right to veto gasoline rationing if we deem rationing unnecessary."

In tracing the history of the oil shortage, Ford pointed out that it had been predicted for several years and charged that the Nixon administration consistently underestimated the problem and refused to take positive action to avoid a crisis.

The Congressman also said that the oil industry has not been hurt by the crisis, but in fact has been increasing its profit margin at "fantastic rates."

The report outlines some of Congressman Ford's efforts over the past year to head off the shortage.

IN JANUARY, 1973, he co-sponsored legislation to terminate oil import controls, which were retained by President Nixon despite many recommendations that they be needed. Four months later, Nixon yielded to the growing pressure and terminated the import quotas.

Residents can get tax help through treasury department

Assistance in the preparation of recently passed homestead property tax relief forms is available from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at the state treasury department's branch office, 24910 Michigan Ave. Dearborn.

The tax relief is available to four categories of homeowners and renters in the state: senior citizens, eligible veterans, blind persons and all other homeowners and renters.

Those falling within the first three classifications also are eligible for additional credits on their 1973 state income tax return for taxes paid on the homestead.

Even someone renting a home will be able to substitute 17 per cent of the rent paid for property tax in the computation of the credit.

If there is no income tax due or the property tax credit exceeds the income tax, a refund will be made. However, the tax relief allowed to any claimant cannot exceed $500 and a claim must be filed within six months after the end of the year.

To facilitate the early processing of refunds, a booklet, identified as "MI 1040CR," has been designed to aid in filing claims for the tax credit by claimants who may not be subject to the state income tax.

However, those who must pay the tax must file a claim with their income tax return. The forms are included in the state income tax booklets.

For further information on the tax relief program, contact the Michigan Avenue branch office at 256-3512.

GROUP EFFORT — Individual instruction is one of the many tools used by teachers in Romulus' Beverly Elementary School. Third grade teacher Annie Harris finds a "small

Telephones are ringing in interesting statistics

Detroit is one of 21 metropolitan areas in the world with more than a million telephones and Southfield is second among five cities with more telephones than people.

According to statistics released by Michigan Bell, the United States has eight metropolitan areas with a million or more phones — Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Houston, Los Angeles, Minneapolis-St. Paul, New York and Philadelphia.

The remaining 13 cities are scattered throughout the world in 11 countries.

THE NATION'S capital is the world's telephone capital, having 128.1 telephones for every 100 people.

This compares with 124.1 phones for every 100 persons in Southfield, making it second to Washington.

The other three cities, which have more phones than people, are Cambridge, Mass., 103.2 phones; Stockholm, Sweden, 100.6 and Champaign, Ill., 100.5.

The statistics are contained in "The World's Telephones," a booklet published annually by AT&T's Long Lines department, the Bell System's interstate and international operating unit.

THE PUBLICATION provides details on telephones and their worldwide use. Because it takes a year to compile statistics, figures reflect the status as of Jan. 1, 1973.

Almost a century ago, the first two-way long distance telephone call linked Alexander Graham Bell and Dr. Thomas Watson in Cambridgeport and Boston, Mass.

Today, long distance calling links more than 312 million telephones around the world.

That figure represents a 7.4 percent increase over 1972 and a 94.2 percent increase in the last year.

THE UNITED STATES has 131,606,000 telephones — more than any other country. It's followed by Japan, with 34,012,155 and the United Kingdom, with 17,570,904.

In 1972, people in this country made more than 180 billion local and long distance telephone calls, the greatest volume among the world's telephone users.

Meyer to head 2 plants

A group general manager of Kelsey-Hayes Company's wheel plants in Romulus and Windsor, Ontario, has been named. He is George Y. Meyer.

Meyer originally joined Kelsey-Hayes' Heintz Division, Philadelphia, Pa., in October, 1947. He was transferred to Detroit in 1967 as operations manager for the wheel, drum and brake division.

He was in charge of manufacturing for the wheel, drum and brake division and Canadian operations.

Prior to rejoining Kelsey-Hayes, Meyer held the position of vice-president of manufacturing for Midland-Ross Company.

He is a graduate of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

MOTHERS ASSIST STUDENTS — The Elwell Elementary School in Belleville has initiated a Reading Enrichment and Child Help (REACH) Program, designed to aid first and second grade students. The program is staffed by volunteer mothers to help in the development of skills. One of the REACH mothers, Mrs. Joan DePriest, assists two youngsters with their studies. They are (from left) Jay Dennis and Nancy Mapes, both kindergartners.

Develops skills

Mothers aid program

Reading Enrichment and Child Help (REACH) is a program designed to aid first and second grade children in the development of their reading and math skills.

When the program was initiated at the Elwell Elementary School in Belleville, project coordinators, Mrs. Linda Crist and Mrs. Sandra Gompf, the school's teachers and principal William Chizmar, considered the two grades as the most critical in the development of reading skills.

"Project REACH has as its main goal, the development and maintenance of reading and math skills, through the utilization of reading and math skill game activities," Chizmar said.

THE PROJECT is staffed by volunteer mothers, who as parent aides, are assigned one child to work with for two 25-minute periods per week. The REACH mothers also attend a workshop held once a month to develop games and activities to be used with the children and to discuss the project and how it can better serve the needs of the children.

The coordinators, REACH mothers and teachers work together as a "close knit unit." The teachers, when working with the children in developing reading and math skills, make a diagnosis of the skills the children are having difficulty mastering. They then write a prescription for the REACH mother to follow.

The REACH mother then works with the child until the skill has been mastered and a new prescription is written.

"Mrs. Christ and Mrs. Gompf have put a great deal of time and effort into the project and all the credit for the project's success belongs to them and the REACH mothers," Chizmar said.

Volunteer REACH mothers in the program are: Mrs. Pat Barnhart, Mrs. Clara Dennis, Mrs. Joan DePriest, Mrs. Jean Cundiff, Mrs. Geneva Reed, Mrs. Joyce Markel, Mrs. Rowena Cooper, Mrs. Sophia Loyer, Mrs. Donna Sparks, Mrs. Debba Neuvirth, Mrs. Sharon Chobot, Mrs. Sarah Wood and Mrs. Mary Kaplanski.

"They have done an excellent job and without their help the project could not be the success it is," Chizmar added.

Energy crisis causing concern of potential gasoline fire hazards

The energy crisis is becoming a source of concern to fire service organizations throughout the nation because of the potential fire safety hazards inherent in the misuse of fuels.

Recent requests for the excessive storage of gasoline and other fuels have been denied by the area fire departments.

The increased fire hazard with the potential for tragic consequences that can occur to people attempting to get around the crisis is being closely watched by the fire department.

State and local regulations provide severe restrictions on the storage of flammable liquids.

They should never be stored in the home and not more than six gallons should be stored on any residential premises outside the home, such as a garage or shed.

Containers for such storage must be of the safety can type, painted red, with appropriate lettering identifying the contents.

Gasoline should never be carried in storage containers inside a motor vehicle. This represents a serious fire and explosion threat to occupants of the vehicle under any condition.

The energy crisis will generate an increase in the use of fireplaces. They should be frequently checked for operating safety.

Such items as dampers, screens, chimney's, flues and draft characteristics, must be carefully inspected to insure safe operations. Trash should never be burned in a fireplace.

All types of heating appliances should be checked on a regular basis by a qualified service representative to assure maximum safety and efficiency.

Storage in the home of any equipment requiring flammable liquid fuels is specifically discouraged. Such items have been the source of many disasterous fires.

Questions regarding the fire safety of the home or place of business should be directed to Romulus Fire Chief Charles Bradley.

"Five gallons of gasoline explode with as much force as 115 lbs. of dynamite," according to U.S. Army engineers statistics, Bradley added.

Michigan lottery off to good start

The Michigan Lottery is off to a good start in its second year, following a four-week "anniversary bonus," which produced 138 winners and had an averaged sales record of 5.52 million per week.

Winners in the Western Wayne County area, who collected the $2,000 gift certificate redeemable for merchandise or services at any one of the 8,000 ticket agent locations around the state, included two Garden City residents and an Inkster resident.

The three winners are: Harold Coffel, of Garden City and Wilma McDaniel of Inkster, who both won in the Nov. 23 anniversary drawing, and Benjamin Rito of Garden City, who won in the Dec. 6 drawing.

An estimated 32 anniversary bonus winners have yet to claim their money. Tickets sold at The Bottle Shop in Westland for the Nov. 29 drawing and at the D & J Party Hut, also in Westland, are among those not validated since the drawings.

To date winners have used the $2,000 prize in department stores and grocery stores, and in one case, in a bar.

Students develop area safety signs

The safety of school children on their way to school during the current and early hours of Daylight Savings Time is becoming an added concern of parents and area school officials.

Some school districts have delayed school starting times for morning classes from 15 minutes to as much as one-half hour, since the Jan 6 hour loss.

In a program to further alleviate the danger of school children waiting for school buses in the early morning darkness, students attending the Sumpter Elementary School have initiated "Project KID" (Kids in the Dark).

The Sumpter Township school is a part of the Van Buren Public School District. The fifth grade class of David Long along with the sixth grade class of David Larabell prepared and "manufactured" reflecting safety signs for use at each bus stop in the Sumpter School area.

The signs, reading "Kids in the Dark," are printed and attached to 12-by-16-inch pieces of plywood. The words are made of reflecting tape.

The safety signs can be seen from 100 yards away, the students said.

Students of South Junior High in Belleville assisted in Project KID, cutting the pieces of plywood for the signs. Gamble's Department Store in downtown Belleville donated the materials for the project.

The new reflector sign won immediate and favorable comments from the district's bus drivers who serve students attending Sumpter School.

Human 'aura' talk set for Saturday

The "human aura" - a photographic technique developed by Russian scientists will be explained and demonstrated for area residents at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in Ann Arbor.

Fred Cuddy, of Taylor, Mich., using the Kirlian photographic method, will also exhibit materials illustrating how the Kirlian technique can "heal."

The talk will be held at the Chapel of Love for Spiritual Truth, 3800 Packard, Ann Arbor.

And at 1 p.m. Cuddy will speak on "our space brothers," and the wonders of the universe - including UFO's.

THE KIRLIAN technique takes pictures not of things, but of the invisible aura surrounding them. "It points to a factual basis for much that has been considered myth," according to a report on aura photography appearing in "Prevention" magazine.

The magazine reports that the human aura can be discovered by looking through a glass screen stained with a certain dye - based on the finds of a British physician in the early 1900s.

In 1930, the magazine ads, Russian scientist Semyon Kirlian and his wife Valentina proved the technique of photographing the human aura with neither camera or lens.

Persons requesting a personal demonstration of the Kirlian human aura technique will be available with a five dollar donation.

In order to satisfy our creditors, we have been ordered to liquidate this entire stock. Nothing will be held back, everything must be sold including fixtures and office equipment.

"After nine years of hard work Popular is forced to quit business. It is with a great deal of sadness that we must do this, but due to circumstances beyond my control, Popular Furniture is going out of business."

"I would like to take this opportunity to invite all the people of the South Eastern Lower Michigan Area to come into Popular during the next 30 days. Legislature's fall session clarifies old laws

Among legislation passed during the fall session of the state legislature are five new laws, which have clarified and expanded old state laws to better adapt to present situations and needs.

One of the new laws revises and updates the state law for licensing dentists. Included in it is a provision, which establishes training and licensing standards for the profession of dental assistant. Such persons may perform certain dental functions under the supervision of a licensed dentist.

The law also expands the role of the dental hygienist and increases the size of the State Board of Dentistry. It is felt that the use of dental assistants and the increased duties for dental hygienists will help to ease the shortage of dentists in many parts of the state.

THE REVISED law will enable the state to use dental assistants in ways not permitted under the old act, permit the best possible use of available training personnel in the dental hygienist field and make the board of dentistry more responsive by addition of one additional member and limiting the terms of members to assure continual input of fresh thought.

The new law is the first major revision of the Michigan Dental Practice Act since it was adopted in 1939.

Recently signed into law was a bill which would allow health facilities, both public and private, as well as individual employees, to refuse to perform or participate in abortions as a matter of conscience.

The new law protects hospitals and other facilities against civil or criminal action for refusal to perform abortions. Individual employees are protected against discipline or discharge for refusing to participate in an abortion, if the refusal is for religious, moral or professional reasons.

THE U.S. SUPREME COURT ruled last March that the states cannot interfere with a woman's right to an abortion in the first three months of pregnancy, thus voiding Michigan's abortion law.

The minimum residency requirements for state and local elections was lowered from 45 days to 30 days under another new public act. The legislation brings Michigan into conformity with a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision on voter residency requirements.

It also eliminates a confusing situation under which a person who had lived in a state for 30 days could vote in federal elections (for president and congressman), yet had to wait for 45 days to vote in state and local elections.

Another new law requires that all local property assessment rolls and property appraisal cards be available for public inspection. It states specifically that anyone who wants to examine assessment records, or copy them, can do so during customary business hours.

Trustees approve manager

An employment contract for a Belleville Lake dam watchman has been approved by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

The board hired Carmen Gearhart, a retired Edison Co. employee, who has managed the dam for Edison for about 30 years.

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said that Gearhart will serve as an advisor to township employees who will control the dam.

The dam was used by the Edison Co. for generating electricity when the firm created Belleville Lake by damming the Huron River that flows through the lake.

It is now used to control the level of the lake which varies considerably depending on weather conditions and the operation of other dams along the Huron River, which feed the lake.

The township is interested in maintaining the lake level because the lake will be used for recreational purposes. The lake can go up or down as much as six to eight inches in an hour depending on weather conditions, Gollwitzer said.

PERFORMED — Belleville resident Ann O'Beay, a coed at Eastern Michigan University, recently presented a voice recital in five languages at Peace Auditorium on the university's campus. Miss O'Beay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rathburn of Beckley Road in Belleville. Presently a student teacher, she plans to graduate from the university in April.

Revival services planned

A series of revival services will be held at the Church of God of Prophecy, 7201 Kempa St., Romulus tonight through Sunday. The Rev. and Mrs. Gary Smith will be the guest speakers during the series of programs which begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Smiths have traveled throughout the United States in evangelistic endeavors.

They have been featured on youth-oriented television programs. Their ministry of music has been called "unique." It has helped them present the gospel on college campus, Christian coffee houses and street services, according to the pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy.

The public is invited to attend the services, Pastor Benny Hart said.

Extra care in engineering... it makes a big difference in small cars.

There are Good Little Cars and there are Great Little Cars

Good Little Cars

Good little cars are priced low like Volkswagen.

Good little cars can get good gas mileage like Nova, Maverick, Comet and Ventura.

Good little cars can seat four or maybe five people like Vega, Pinto and Maverick.

Good little cars offer locked-in, out-of-sight trunk space like Pinto.

Good little cars offer conventional ignition.

Good little cars require points and condenser replacement. And, they require spark plug changes at 6,000 miles. These changes are recommended by the manufacturers and could cost you as much as $81 every 24,000 miles.

Great Little Cars

Great little cars are priced less than Volkswagen. Dodge Dart Swinger Special and Plymouth Duster are actually priced below VW's most popular model.*

Great little cars, like Dodge Dart and Plymouth Duster with a slant six engine, can get better gas mileage than Nova, Maverick, Comet and Ventura.

Great little cars like Plymouth Duster and Dodge Dart seat five or six people, and have more hiproom than Nova, Hornet, Maverick, Vega and Pinto.

Great little cars like Dodge Dart Sport and Plymouth Duster offer more than three times the trunk space of Pinto, all under lock and key and out of sight.

Great little cars like Dodge Dart and Plymouth Duster offer Electronic Ignition standard. An exclusive standard feature on small cars from Chrysler Corporation.

Great little cars like Dodge Dart and Plymouth Duster have no points or condenser to replace, and spark plugs can last up to 18,000 miles under normal driving conditions. A savings to you of up to $62 over competitive cars like Nova and Ventura in the first 24,000 miles alone.†

Eagles do it again Romulus jolts Rouge

There aren't many high school coaches and teams that can boast they beat River Rouge basketball teams four straight times.

But Romulus and Coach Jess Meriweather can.

The Eagles did it again to the perennial state Class B powerhouse - and on the Panthers' court - Friday night, rallying from a 36-30 halftime deficit to a 65-62 victory.

"They called it an upset," said Meriweather afterwards, "but it wasn't. If they had beaten us that would have been an upset."

"It was great, my biggest victory as coach here and the kids were just fantastic. They refused to quit."

that quarter. Hubbert and Bryon Garner took up the slack in the final period.

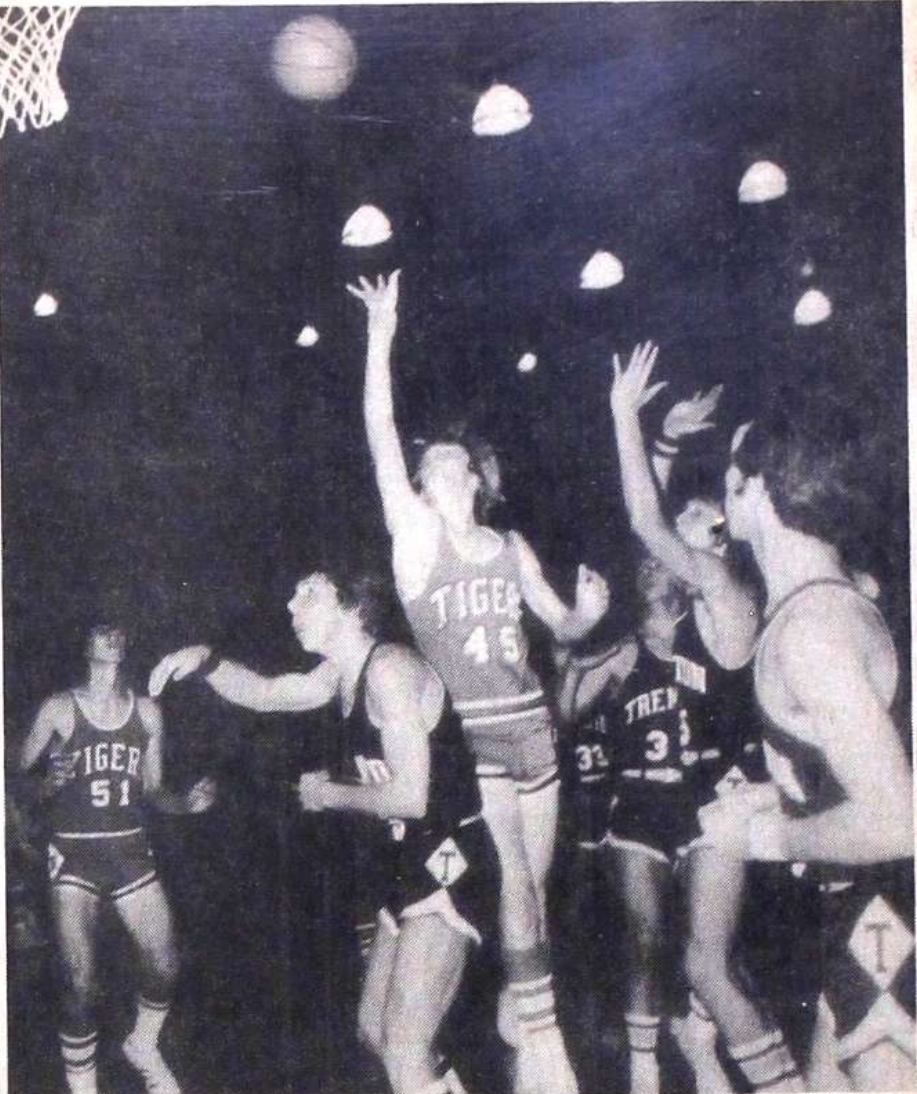

HUBBERT with four of the 11 points and Garner, giving the Eagles control of the boards and three crucial us of stalling. I don't believe in going into a complete stall. When you have a good shot, you just have to take it."

The victory was Romulus' eighth in nine starts. The Eagles were to face Detroit Austin Tuesday night and will host Highland Park, the pacesetter in the newly-organized Suburban Athletic Conference on Friday.

"Highland Park has a super ball club," said Meriweather. "We scouted them against Pontiac Central when they lost by one point. And I feel they have three of the best shooters in the area in Draper, Wright and Duerod."

"It's going to be some kind of a game," the Eagle mentor said.

OUT OF THE MAZE—Belleville's Tim Birk (45) meanders through a couple of Trenton defenders to get this shot off in Friday's Suburban 8 Conference confrontation. Birk got a pair of baskets and his teammates came up on the short end of a 66-59 verdict which left them holding a 2-3 won-lost league record.—Enterprise Roman photo.

Sanders: off season receptions

By TOM MOORADIAN

Charlie Sanders is noted for making "impossible catches" on a football field.

The articulate 6-foot-4, 235-pound Detroit Lions' tight end also showed last week he can haul down any controversial question thrown at him. Sanders slipped into Wayne last week to address the Wayne Jaycees at their annual Young Man of the Year Awards' Banquet.

And, one question on most football fans' minds after Miami humiliated Minnesota in the Super Bowl is: If Detroit can't beat Minnesota, (the Lions have a string of 11 defeats in their past 12 encounters with the Vikings) what chances has Detroit of ever reaching the Super Bowl?

Said Sanders: "I've been with the Lions for six years. We've got the talent but have not been able to get it together as a 'unit' like Miami."

"In 1970 we made the playoffs," continued the three time All-Pro selection, "but the following year we had 15 new faces in the lineup. We started last year with 13 new faces and, for example, Miami and the Redskins (Washington) have been playing together as a 'unit' for years."

IF YOU DIDN'T get lost in the verbiage, Sanders, it seems, was trying to say that the Lions are rebuilding for that glorious day.

O.K., but how about this one:

"How come the Lions let Garo Yepremian go?" asked Wayne Councilman Charles West who eventually wound up as the recipient of the annual Wayne Jaycees' Young Man of the Year Award.

"When Garo showed up his first year he was looked upon by some of the players as a foreigner who couldn't speak English, yet was paid as much as most of the other players and some of the players resented that. And all he (Garo) did was to trot out on the field and kick field goals, never getting his uniform dirty. The players gave him a rough time, and in his second year, the coaches started pressing him. We began missing attempts. But at Miami, a team picked from the entire league, he fell into Shula's 'team effort' approach of coaching and now he is one of the best kickers in pro football."

And little Garo closed out the season with another star performance in yesterday's Pro Bowl game. The little foreigner kicked five field goals to win it for the AFC all stars, 15-13. Not bad for a guy who couldn't cut it with the Lions.

DOES SANDERS have a preference between quarterbacks Greg Landry and Bill Munson?

"They're both good," he replied, which obviously was an elusive pass not meant to catch. "O.K. I like the QB who passes to me."

And how does the future "Pontiac Lion" feel about the new name?

"We don't like going (to Pontiac) because we're used to Detroit and I personally like Detroit. It's my home. When you get one team leaving and another comes in (referring to the new franchise awarded Detroit by the World Football League), the new team and league will go after players who draw crowds."

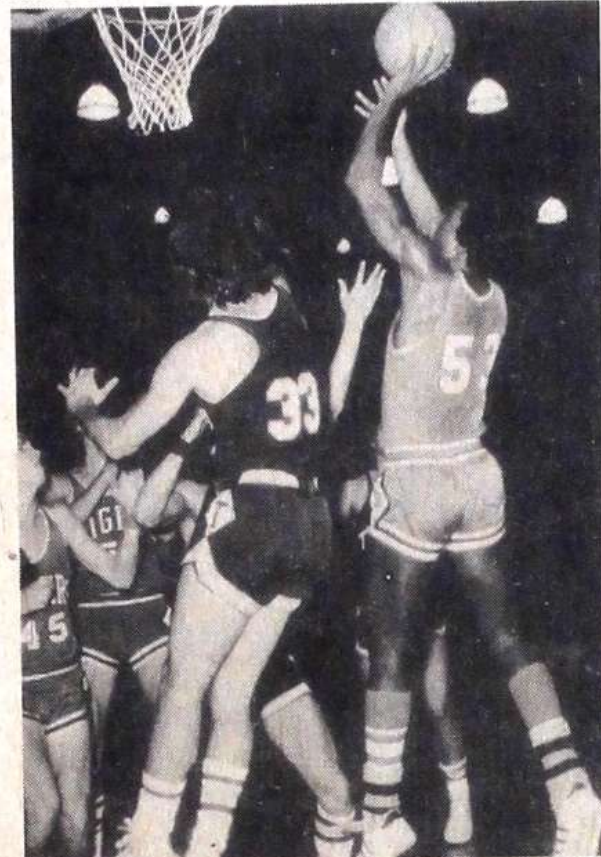

Sanders was quick to add: "We're glad to see a new league because the NFL has exploited players long enough...we're just like cattle, and we get taken for a ride on exhibition games. All other pro sports salaries have gone up except pro football's. The trouble is the fans never hear the athletes' side."

What's it like to play on artificial turf. How's this for a simile: "It's like hitting concrete covered with a quarter inch of rubber."

Active in the March of Dimes campaigns, "because when I was a kid playing sports there was this kid who came on crutches to sketch drawings and I feel I owe it to less fortunate to help them," the 27-year-old native of Greensboro, North Carolina didn't want to play football as a youth.

"You know while I was a prep I loved basketball, but for one reason I got caught up with the excitement of football. And I have never stopped loving football."

Lucky for the Lions.

RIGHT ON — A couple of feet away from two points is Belleville's Harless Hairston (53) who gets the layup despite the protruding arms of Trenton cagers. However, Hairston and the Tigers could not whip up enough scoring power to stop their visitors and fell 66-59. Belleville will hit the road Friday night, taking on Redford Union. — Enterprise Roman photo.

Heavyweights win for Belleville

There's nothing like waiting 'til the last minute to win an athletic event—just ask Belleville's wrestlers.

The Tigers strung together victories in the final three matches last Thursday to finally outlast Allen Park, 36-21, in a knock-down, drag-out Suburban Eight League confrontation.

"It was a real see-saw battle," confirmed Tiger Coach Gerald Malecek. "George Jarvis, Steve Wilson and Dan Porter did excellent jobs for us I thought." Jarvis at 147 pounds, won his first varsity match ever with a 7-4 decision over Allen Park's Jeff Findlay.

Wilson pinned Allen Park's Bob Tarcia in just 37 seconds and Porter registered an impressive 2:34 decision over Bob Lloyd.

Belleville's final three match victories were all pins, by George Medley at 169 in 1:15; Randy Slocum at 187 in 3:33; and heavyweight Don Rix at 2:26.

The victory hiked the Tiger dual meet record to 3-0 while lowering Allen Park to 1-2. Belleville travels to Trenton Thursday in a 6:30 p.m. meet.

No. One

Wayne Memorial is riding atop the state's ratings of the top 15 Class A prep wrestling teams for the second straight week.

Coach Don Haney's grapplers received five of the pollsters' six first-place votes in easily outdistancing second-place Schwartz Creek again.

Romulus climbed into the top 10 for the first time and is nestled in eighth place. The Eagles garnered two second-place votes, three eighth-place votes and one ninth-place vote.

However, Trenton turned the tide in the next eight minutes as John Lutz rallied the Trojans with 14 points to erase the deficit and lead the visitors to a 38-28 halftime margin.

BELLEVILLE got only seven points in the third frame

Split gives Belleville an 'identity problem'

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Will the real Belleville High basketball team stand up, please?

Is the team that handed Allen Park, the defending Suburban 8 Conference champ a 66-59 loss, or the team that dropped a 72-56 decision to Trenton the real Belleville squad?

That question probably is taunting first year Belleville Coach Tom Niemi who was ready with the superlatives - all good ones - to describe his team last Tuesday, then used question marks for the loss Friday against Trenton.

"The third quarter really killed us," replied Niemi to the question of "what happened?" to the Tigers in the Trenton game. "We weren't emotionally ready to play."

"TRENTON is a physical team and they did a good job on us," the Tiger coach continued, "but I was pleased to see that our kids didn't quit—that's the big thing."

Belleville eked out a 15-12 first period advantage as the Tigers jumped to a 10-2 lead with Robin Hook providing six quick points.

However, Trenton turned the tide in the next eight minutes as John Lutz rallied the Trojans with 14 points to erase the deficit and lead the visitors to a 38-28 halftime margin.

BELLEVILLE got only seven points in the third frame as Trenton increased their lead by as much as 17 points, outscoring the Tigers 14-7. Both teams exchanged baskets on an equal term in the final stanza.

Belleville's Mel Abraham came up with 19 points for his team's high while Hook had his best night of the season, finishing with 17.

Lutz and Steve Dillard combined for 35 of their team's points. Dillard had the game high of 30. Lutz settled for 25 while the winners also made 26 of 36 free throws.

It was a different story at Allen Park earlier in the week. Trailing 19-16 in the first period, Belleville outscored the defending champs 18-11 in the second period, then went on to successfully protect a 34-30 halftime lead by winning the scoring duel in the final two frames 16-14 and 16-15, respectively.

NIEMI pointed to the battle of the boards as one of the reasons for the key victory and to the exceptional performances of Tim Birk and Abraham as others.

"We outrebounded them 30-18 and Ernie Thornsberry accounted for 15 of those."

Abraham's seven field goals and 11 of 17 at the free throw line provided the Tigers with 25 points, the game high. Thornsberry also chipped in with 13 points.

Top area swim listing

2 teams are sporting undefeated records

Heading into the stretch for the 1973-74 high school swimming & diving season, two area teams cling to perfect dual meet records.

Westland John Glenn, off to its best start in the school's nine year history, has strung together six straight wins to lead the area pack.

Meanwhile, Belleville, always a threat when it comes time to settle the Western Wayne Swim & Diving Championships, has compiled a 5-0 dual meet record on the season.

Here is a complete listing of team and individual top performances in the area as compiled by Jerry Pawloski, Cherry Hill High swim coach.

In order to get a time or performance on the listing, Coach Pawloski may be contacted at school (PA 2-5900) or at home (9-414-399).

RING DEBUT—Former New Boston High athlete Jeff Pichan will be making his boxing debut tonight in the Golden Gloves Tournament to be held at Lansing's Civic Center. Pichan, who is presently residing in Howell, is shooting for the light middle weight class title (under 160 pounds). Pichan (at left) spars with Jerry Drumheller, a 138-pounder from Howell, to get in shape for the amateur boxing debut. Golden Gloves boxing will run for the next four Wednesdays at the Civic Center with the finals slated for Feb. 6. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 229-8909.

Rebounding doesn't help

Tecumseh rips Huron

So much for another "assumption" in Andy Herman's strategy book.

Before last Friday, the New Boston Huron basketball coach operated on the assumption that if his Chiefs outrebounded an opponent they would win the game. He discovered otherwise against Tecumseh, however.

Huron came out the victor in the battle of the boards, 35-31, but lost the game, 79-59, in a test of Huron League counterparts.

"IT'S A RARITY that we don't win when we outrebound an opponent," informed Herman. "Every game we have outrebounded a team so far we have won."

Huron plummeted to its sixth defeat against one victory in the league, but sports a better 3-7 overall record. Tecumseh, tied for second place in the league, is 5-2 and 6-5 overall.

Tecumseh exploded on the Chiefs in the second quarter, claiming a 14-point halftime lead, but Huron slapped on an effective press to force numerous Tecumseh turnovers and move to within six points of the host team.

Joe Richert and Ken Smith led the Huron surge, pumping in eight and six points, respectively, in the quarter. "I WAS HAPPY with the comeback, but we can't sustain anything," complained Herman, referring to the Chiefs' sagging after chopping Tecumseh's lead. The hosts outscored Huron, 28-17, in the final quarter.

A rash of fouls called against Huron triggered the Chiefs' demise, as the two big men—Smith and Don Bennett—fouled out in the fourth quarter.

Tecumseh grabbed an 18-13 first-quarter lead before igniting in the next period.

Richert checked out with a game-high 24 points including canning 14 of 15 free throws, assisted by Smith's 11 for Huron. Tecumseh was led by Al Schafer with 20, Joe Connors with 14, Mike Mayers with 12 and Brad Sisson with 10.

"I thought our kids wrestled very well up there," said Romulus Coach Jim Stallings, "we just don't have the ballance like Wayne - which is a super team - and Schwartz Creek, also an excellent team."

Stallings pointed out that he had only five kids score points and a little help from the rest of the wrestlers would have improved their scoring.

"I DON'T think that there is a team in the state that can beat Wayne in a tournament this year," added Stallings, who emphasized that he was

Romulus places third at WLC mat invitational

If Wayne Memorial doesn't stop monopolizing wrestling invitations, don't be surprised if area schools don't sue the Zebras for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust laws.

Wayne, the No. 1 ranked prep wrestling team in the state this year, added the Walled Lake Central Invitational title to its already long list of feats this year.

Coach Don Haney's Zebras, winning nine medals - three of those first places - compiled 91½ points to finish well ahead of second ranked Schwartz Creek, which finished in the runnerup spot with 79½ points.

ROMULUS moved up to a respectable third place with 54 points, which included two first places, two seconds and a third. Trailing Romulus in the team standings were: Rochester Adams (46½), Warren Lincoln (44), Walled Lake Central (43½), Lansing Eastern (28), Garden City West (25½), Grand Blanc (20) and Waterford Mott (20).

"I was really pleased with our team effort," said Haney afterwards. "Our boys wrestled against some of the best competition the state has to offer this year."

Wayne's gold medalists were Paul Goosby 100, Bob Matheson (121) and Bob Colaninno (134).

Wayne picked up second places with John Bullard (147) and Bob Nesbitt and placed third with Mark Ellis (114), Larry Michalik (121), Steve Fedulchak (14) and Joe Parr (heavyweight).

Wayne has won five major tournaments this season, including the Western Wayne, Garden City East, Wayne Invitational, Schoolcraft and the Walled Lake Central. The Zebras will be back on the mats tomorrow night when they co-host a double dual with Westland John Glenn against Ann Arbor Huron and Ypsilanti.

"I thought our kids wrestled very well up there," said Romulus Coach Jim Stallings, "we just don't have the ballance like Wayne - which is a super team - and Schwartz Creek, also an excellent team."

Stallings pointed out that he had only five kids score points and a little help from the rest of the wrestlers would have improved their scoring.

"I DON'T think that there is a team in the state that can beat Wayne in a tournament this year," added Stallings, who emphasized that he was talking about six, eight or 32 team tournaments and not necessarily the state meet.

Injuries, to two key Garden City West grapplers handicapped the Tiger's over-all performance. Randy Steckroth (134) and Dave Wozniak (140) were forced out of the tournament during the consolation semi-final rounds.

West earned a third place with Jim Tucker (187), and two fourth places with Dave Rochon (147) and Mike Zenko (169).

ROMULUS' Henry Reid won the Most Pin Award and the heavyweight title as he had three victories on falls of 1:52, 2:37 and 3:20. Teammate Brad Smith was the top performer in the 140-pound class.

Romulus was runnerup in the 114-pound class where Phil Ford lost a 6-2 decision to Walled Lake Central's Todd Schneider. Schneider is a two-time national champ whose father coached at Walled Lake Central for many years.

Rudy Williams also was second as he lost to defending two-time state champ, Mark Whaley, in the 157-pound class. The Eagles had a third place in the 100-pound class as Lamar Sandusky won in the consolation bracket 10-0 over Rochester Adams' Dan Steele.

Meet results: 1. Wayne Memorial (91½); 2. Schwartz Creek (79½); 3. Romulus (54½); 4. Rochester Adams (46½); 5. Warren Lincoln (44); 6. Walled Lake Central (43½); 7. Lansing Eastern (28); 8. Garden City West (25½); 9. Grand Blanc (20); 9. Waterford Mott (20).

Wrestlers win, 44-16
Despite a "student walkout" last week, Romulus High wrestling Coach Jim Stallings managed to put together a team to jolt Flat Rock 44-16.

It was the Eagles' second dual meet in eight starts.

Students at Romulus left classrooms to support their bid for an "open campus" proposal that had been submitted to the board of education.

Faust proposes changes in bail bonding law

Bail bonding has become an important part of the American legal system, allowing accused persons to be released from jail, while awaiting trial.

However, a retired United States Supreme Court Justice has called the country's bonding system "at best, a system of checkbook justice and at worst, a highly commercialized racket."

State Sen. William Faust

(D-Westland) has proposed a package of legislation, designed to correct the flaws of the bonding system, which the court justice said could "no longer be tolerated."

FAUST'S PROPOSALS include:

- a bill that would define, license and regulate bail bondsmen in Michigan, as well as provide stiff penalties for wrongdoing on their part;
- a bill that would make jumping bail a criminal act and provide penalties.

The bill dealing with people that jump bail would make it a misdemeanor for a person to forfeit bail and fail to turn himself in within 30 days on a misdemeanor charge.

The bill also provides that a person would be guilty of a felony if they took the same action while free on bail in connection with a felony.

"There are currently no laws on the books dealing with people that jump bail," Faust said. "This bill would help speed up the judicial process by discouraging people from not showing up for their trial date."

FAUST'S BILL dealing with professional bondsmen would require them to obtain a license from the State Insurance Commissioner and renew it every Aug. 1.

To obtain a license, an applicant would have to meet the following requirements:

- file an application;
- submit a certificate of good reputation signed by a judge of the circuit court where the applicant resides;
- make a deposit of $15,000 for each person authorized to post bonds;
- pay a license fee of $50.

When granting a license, the commissioner would issue a "bail bond identification card" bearing the photograph and signature of the licensee. This would authorize bonds and recognizances equal to the licensee's $15,000 deposit plus his total financial assets.

The bill also would stipulate how much money a bondsman could charge for his services. The maximum allowable fee would be equal to 10 per cent of the total bond.

FAUST'S BILL also provides that a judge may question a bondsman when he is attempting to post a bond with regard to bondsman's financial status, outstanding bonds that he may have to pay and the fee that he proposes to charge.

If, through questioning, the judge determines that any portion of the bondsman's security was feloniously obtained or that he had violated this act in any way, he may refuse to accept his bond.

A license could be revoked, under the Faust bill, for any of the following violations:

- fraudulently obtaining a license;
- conviction of a criminal offense;
- being adjudged, bankrupt or insolvent;
- recommending or suggesting a lawyer to a person for whom bail is being given;

- failure to pay a judgement or decree rendered on a forfeited bond or recognizance in a court of competent jurisdiction;
- impairment of the deposit required under the act;
- interference or attempted interference with the administration of justice.

fraudulent or dishonest practices, or material misstatement in the application for a license;

- failure to report a change of status after obtaining a license, that, if known, would make the applicant ineligible for a license.

Violation of the act is a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum fine of $500 or 90 days imprisonment.

The increased activity of the city's driver license bureau has prompted the members of the city council to consider the possibility of relocating the bureau in larger quarters in the municipal building, where it is presently operating.

Governmental units discuss dam system

A series of meetings to set up a communication system relative to the operation of various dams along the Huron River between Ann Arbor and Van Buren Township are underway between governmental units in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Van Buren.

Dams constructed at the Geddes Pond and Barton Pond in the Ann Arbor area, the Ypsilanti dam between Ford Lake in Ypsilanti and the Belleville Lake dam in Van Buren Township are involved in the proposed communication set up.

A communication system between the involved communities relative to the operation of dams within their respective jurisdictions would be helpful to each community in the event of an emergency, Robertson said.

Ben R. Robertson, director of Van Buren Township Industrial Development Committee, said two such sessions already have been held and another is scheduled for tomorrow.

Belleville Players plan suspense-filler thriller

The Belleville Community Players are presenting Frederick Knott's "Wait Until Dark" on Feb. 22 and 23.

The spine-chilling mystery which runs the gamut of emotions from sympathy to hysteria, centers around a young blind woman, who inadvertently finds herself involved in an ominous plot surrounding a small doll.

Despite her blindness, she manages to overcome her three foes by use of her wits. Instigator of the sinister plot to terrorize the young woman is a "hit man" and his somewhat incompetent companions, whose mission is to reclaim the lost doll.

The three men use varying techniques to worm their way into the woman's confidence including luring her husband away on emergency business.

Her nine-year-old neighbor aids her in defeating her pursuers with the entire effect of play hinging on the darkened last scene.

Even if you are familiar with the story, the Belleville Community Players guarantee that you practically will crawl under your seat as the intense thriller moves from one suspense-filled moment to the next as it spins its web of terror, ending with the electrifying last scene.

Rehearsals for the play are under the direction of Jean Daniels and are being held on Mondays and Thursdays.

THE PRISM GROUP—The Zion Missionary Church in Belleville will present a six-member contemporary singing group known as The Prism at church services at 7 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday. Belleville High students form club

A teacher of physics at Belleville High School and his students have started a new club at the high school.

In commenting on the Physics Club, the teacher, John Preston, said: "We've been doing a number of things together after school for the last few years and it looked like official club status would be a good thing to have considering the projects that we have in mind."

The club has planned several projects for the future.

RIGHT NOW THEY are petitioning several calculator companies for donations to see if they can equip a class of physics students with calculators to make the ideas and concept of physics more available to a broader range of students.

Preston said the students plan to make visits to the University of Michigan's observatory, the Cranbrook Science Museum and possibly to the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

The new club also has plans for a project to bring a better understanding of the physics program to prospective students. Members of the club intend to go to the North and South Junior high schools this spring before the fall registration with various demonstrations of physics.

"This will offer the junior high students an opportunity to discuss physics and what physics is like with the club members, so they can get a first hand student to student opinion of what the course really is like," Preston said.

THE PHYSICS COURSE is available to 10th grade students if they have an "A" or "B" average in "Algebra I" and plan to take geometry.

"Last year some of the physics students and I had a Mardi Gras booth and with the proceeds from that booth we bought a three-inch reflector telescope," Preston said. "This year, the students have used it to see the moons of Jupiter, the rings of Saturn, the phases of Venus and hope to see the Comet Kohoutek."

He added that these activities has been a good beginning for the club.

Owen seeks study

State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D. Ypsilanti), representing Michigan's 22nd legislative district, has requested the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) conduct a full scale investigation into the reasons for skyrocketing prices of liquid propane gas, used to heat homes.

Owen said that many mobile home residents in the Belleville and Ypsilanti Township areas have complained that they are being forced out of their homes by the rapidly rising fuel prices.

The mobile home owners claim that some heating bills have risen from $45 in November to $99 in December.

Many local mobile park residents are planning to sell their homes or move to parks supplying natural gas.

MUSH — Joe Lake travels with ease through the snow as his Labrador Retriever gives a pull and his friend, Tommy Forentino, gives a push. Watching the action are Frank McKinney, 12, Greg Bean, 15, and Danny Mroz, 10. The youths were out enjoying a romp in the wet snow before the sun melted it. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

State draft figures dip with volunteer system

During 1973, the first full year of a "zero draft," Michigan's local boards registered 81,998 young men, according to Arthur A. Holmes, state Selective Service director.

The tentative registration totals for 1973 compared favorably with the 88,211 men registered in 1972, when the Selective Service was supplying inductees to the Armed Forces.

Col. Holmes commended the 720 volunteer registrars at Michigan schools and boards register young men. While no inductions occurred in 1973, Congress still requires the Selective Service to continue registration and classification and to maintain a standby operation capable of immediate operation in the case of a national emergency.

Michigan registrars in the Armed Forces at the end of 1973 totalled 41,842. Totals for 1972 were 51,703.

Initial enlistment in Michigan also declined during the past year. Selective Service records indicate 13,626 Michigan registrants enlisted in the Armed Forces in 1973, about 6,000 less than in 1972.

Selective Service law requires that all men register for the draft on their 18th birthday or within 30 days before or after that date. In addition, they must keep their draft boards informed of any changes in their mailing addresses and carry their draft cards with them until their liability expires, which for most men is at age 26.

Tax help on forms available

A new program of assistance in the filing of applications under provisions of the Michigan Homestead Tax Exemption Act and for making out new property tax refund forms will begin tomorrow at the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Rd.

Township Clerk Mrs. Patricia Cullin announced that inquiries are still being received from the township's elderly on the regulations and procedures of filing under the state's new property tax refund program.

Three senior citizens, residing in the township, received special training at the Dearborn office of the Internal Revenue Service on the procedures of filing for property tax refunds under the new state tax refund program.

They are Mrs. Mildred Smith, Mrs. Esther Smith (no relation) and Mrs. Bernice Rodgers. They will be available at the township hall tomorrow and Friday during the hours of 2 to 4 p.m. and one day a week thereafter to assist senior citizens, renters and other eligible persons.

John Hale and Kitty Hornkohl, who also have been instructed in the new property tax refund procedures, will be available on alternating Tuesdays during the hours of 2 to 4 p.m.

Firm gets road work

Bids, totalling $9 million, were accepted in Lansing recently on 26 highway construction and maintenance projects throughout the state.

A Belleville firm, Thompson-McCully Co., was awarded the contract for the largest project of widening Van Born Road from east of Inkster Road to west of Beech Daly Road in Dearborn Heights and Taylor.

The bid of $1,049,263 covers the widening to five lanes for eight-tenths of a mile along the road. It includes grading, drainage structures, curbs, gutters and concrete paving.

DATSUN
SAVES
About a gallon of gasoline a day
With the demand for fuel rising faster than the supply, here's one way to help ease our energy crisis.
According to the latest U.S.
Bureau of Highway figures, the national average for gas mileage is about 13.5 miles per gallon. The new Datsun 1200 gets around 30 miles per gallon or over twice the national average. The average car in the U.S. is driven just over 10,000 miles a year, so you can save about a gallon of gas every day by driving a 1200. With gasoline prices going up, it's a considerable saving of another important resource: your money.
Drive a Datsun...then decide.

ENJOY A CAREER
IN REAL ESTATE

NORWOOD
REALTORS
326-4500

After 9 years of teaching in the Detroit Public Schools, I was forced to admit to myself that I was working more and enjoying it less. I just couldn't see myself spending the next 25 years in what had become an emotionally and financially unrewarding position.

With the encouragement and faith of my wife, Suzanne,
I was able to muster the courage to leave behind the so-called security of the classroom, and assume the challenges of the business world.

It has been almost 2 years since I joined NORWOOD Realtors. Leaving the school board was not an easy decision, so you can be certain that I thoroughly investigated the Norwood Co. and other firms before joining Norwood. If you're looking for unlimited opportunity and an exciting and rewarding career with a leading real estate team, contact Norwood Realtors,
